HEERMANS ON BRYAN.

Though He Was Heard by a Large

Orowd, Enthusiasm Was "Shy." Mr. Bryan's speech making tour of West Virginia was not a brilliant success, according to many of the nonaccompanied him upon his itinerary Mr. Ed. M. Heermans accompanied the Bryan party upon the trip through West Virginia and Maryland, writing o daily report for the New York Sun While in Wheeling yesterday morning, Mr. Heermans talked with a representative of the Intelligencer about the

He said that Bryan had good crowds everywhere but at Parkersburg. There the attendance was even disappointing to the local committee. Six thousand people heard Bryan at Parkersburg, but they came mostly from the city and vicinity. The coldness of Mr. Bryan's audiences almost everywhere, was marked. At Shepherdstown and Clarksburg the county fairs were in full blast, which partly accounts for the large turn out.

"Throughout West Virginia," said Mr. Heermans, "the interest in Mr. Bryan's trip was that of curious people who at this season of the year are eager for a holiday. They would flock to their country towns to see and hear any man of national repute. The people stared at Bryan in amazement when he screamed out to them in thundering tones that they were not prospering and that good times were on the wane.

"Those multitudes were enabled to have the holiday and privileged to see and hear the Nebraskan orator, because of their prosperity. The men and vomen were unusually well dressed and the men could jingle coins in their They marveled at Bryan's urgent remarks that they were not enjoying good times. Bryan told the Clarksburg people, right within sight of new glass works, a new railroad and a score of other signs of prosperity, that they were having hard times. The local Democratic committee at Clarksburg had whispered to Mr. Bryan while driving to the grove, that good times was the Republican argument that was injuring the Democratic cause in Harrison county. Hence Mr. Bryan's onslaught upon prosperity."

Bryan after the meeting, why he had taken up the calamity cry again. He said he expected to devote much time and many speeches to the subject of the unstableness of prosperity, in view of the fact that he anticipated many labor agitations and a great strike among the anthracite miners.

It was rather amusing that Mr. Bry-an preached hard times to the Clarksburg crowd when upon the very plat-form upon which he spoke, sat Col. T. Moore Jackson, the Democrat who declined the congressional nomination in this district, who upon his own statement Thursday to the corres-pondents, said he was "too busy making money to be in politics." Mr. Jackson drove the newspaper correspondents from the train to the grove in his carringe. The "calamity cry" did not set well with him.

MR. GEORGE IS MAKING HEADWAY

Among the Ohio County Senatorial Conferees, and He May be Nominated This Afternoon.

A LENGTHY CONFERENCE HELD

Friday Afternoon, at Which No Determination as to United Action Was Arrived At.

Yesterday afternoon a committee representing the Wellsburg Trades Assembly came to Wheeling for the purpose of furthering the interests of
Mr. Samuel George, the Wellsburger. Mr. Samuel George, the Wellsburger, who has been endorsed by Brooke county for the senatorial nomination at to-day's convention at Weilsburg. The committee was composed of Messrs, George Patterson, John Longbottom, Joseph Combs, Sol Combs, Robert Combs, E. D. Mooney and John J. Mur

The committee first met a committee of Wheeling glassworkers, members of the union in North Wheeling, but it is said that the conference was not attended by representatives of the two other local unions of the Flints, Nos. 9 and 53. The two committees later met in the first branch council chamber, city building, with the Ohio coun-ty senatorial conferees, and thoroughly discussed the situation with reference to Mr. George's candidacy. The two committees reported to the conferees that any trouble that might have occurred in Mr. George's factories was without his knowledge; that George had unionized his plants and that the sit-uation is now perfectly satisfactory. It was also stated that President John Kunzler, of the American Filnt Glass-workers' Union, had written a letter, stating that the George glass works are now union, and that his candidacy would not be opposed by the Flints as an organization. The committees left, and the confer ess continued the discussion. It came out that a number of the conference were not convinced that the nomination of Goorge would be wise. It was stated that although some of the Wheeling glassworkers had appeared in favor of his candidacy, two other unions will work against him if nominated. It was suggested that before the nomination is made there should the nomination is made there should be further investigation as to how the union-laber people in Ohio county will receive Mr. George as a candidate for senator. It was determined that the Ohio county conferees would meet in Wellsburg to-day at noon for the purpose of going over the situation in detail, and endeavor if necessary in the interest of party success to deay the interest of party success, to delay the nomination four or five days or a week. This would mean the adjournment of the convention to-day without the naming of a candidate.

There is a disposition, howevr, among some of the Ohlo county conferees to support Mr. George, and it would not be surprising if he were nominated this afternoon.
